July 5 - Rachel Epstein set her sights on becoming a movie star when she met John Edey, the vice president of Steiner Studios, a film and television production studio in Brooklyn. "I begged John to hire me as an extra," says Epstein, a writer and researcher at Columbia University. "He finally offered me a spot in 'Sex and the City: The Movie.' The couple's blockbuster moment came when John told the crowd on set, "It's been [my girlfriend's] dream to be [in a movie] and now I hope she makes my dreams come true by marrying me." The duo wed before 150 guests at Steiner Studios.
